Women's Hosiery To-Day.

35c Hosiery

For 25c pair

50c Hosiery

For 35c pair

Both imported Lisle Stockings, double sole, spliced heel and toe.

The Hosiery that we're offering at 25c is now on sale in many stores at 35c. (That's the regular price, and the Stockings are good values at 35c.)

Our special at 35c is the ordinary 50c Stocking sold; garter top.

The importers from whom we buy thousands of dollars' worth of Hosiery every year sold us a limited quantity of these Stockings under price to give us a "leader" for a special sale. That's the "reason why" for the cut prices.

OSCAR WEV DIES BY HIS OWN HAND

Young Naval Electrician Accidentally Shoots Himself While Hunting.

WAS MARRIED IN RICHMOND

Born in Virginia—Had Been Long in Service—Stationed at Puget Sound.

Information has been received here of the death of Oscar Wev, chief electrician wireless, United States Navy, at Puget Sound, Washington State. Mr. Wev, according to a telegram from Rear Admiral Burwell to the former's father-in-law in this city, shot himself accidentally while hunting near Puget Sound, Washington, on November 19th.

Here is the telegram which brought the first tidings of the sad affair:

"Navy Yard, Puget Sound, Wash., November 19, 1906."

"Mr. M. Burquet, 2601 East Main Street, Richmond, Va.": "Chief Wireless Electrician, United States Navy, accidentally shot himself while hunting today. Mrs. Wev now cared for at our quarters. Please write your wishes."

"REAR ADMIRAL, HUNTERVILLE, Commander."

Mr. and Mrs. Burquet, whose daughter young Wev married about five years ago, are greatly distressed over the affair, but they have no more detailed information than that contained in the above telegram.

Mr. Burquet wired Admiral Burwell to inform the relatives here if he thought best, and they are expected some time during the day Monday.

Born in Virginia.

Young Wev was a native of Northern Virginia, and through the influence of a relative who was in public life, he secured an appointment in the Navy Department when seventeen years old.

He was thirteen years of age, and married Miss Burquet about five years ago, while in the government service at Portsmouth. He is survived by Mrs. Wev and one son, three years old. Mrs. Wev will return here and reside with her parents at their home at No. 2601 East Main Street.

Mr. Wev was considered a very bright electrician, and new service in the Department during the Spanish-American war. He had also been stationed at various navy yards throughout the country, where he became acquainted with the department. Upon the arrival of the telegram here they will be rushed to this city.

There, no immoderate or objectionable vapors would be emitted, and perfect cleanliness and sanitation would be secured.

He did not believe that the disposition of the matter could be made or had been made without error. He reiterated the idea that ordinances imposing restrictions would be effective in preventing property owners from depreciation of value of the public from a nuisance, asserting that restrictions imposed against toilet rooms.

Opposition Presented.

Mr. James H. Drake, Jr., representing the Civic Improvement League, contended that the Health Board had no jurisdiction of nuisances and that to give Mr. Forbes the commission asked would place a burden upon the city.

He declared that the plan, he believed, was very objectionable, as with the proceedings of the Health Board which endorsed the project, Mr. Drake had a letter from a New York broker answering certain questions formulated by Mr. Drake, some of the answers being a contradiction of the contents of the ordinance.

Mr. N. W. How, representing various property owners, next addressed the committee in opposition to the commission rule. He declared that property owners were exposed to a public nuisance, and that their own property was being depreciated.

He extended that objection to be carried to a point without an objectionable odor, and the time they were left standing only under a short odor or a long odor.

Mr. Wendell H. Meredith, representing opponents of the plan, made a lengthy and vigorous attack on the proposition.

DISCUSS EETER AT MEETING HERE

Local Chapter, However, Learns Little of Document That Caused Stir.

CARE OF DAVIS SECTION

Reference Made to Attitude of President-General Toward U. D. C. Building

The press reports of the reading of Mrs. Davis's letter at the Gulfport convention, resulted in attracting to the chapter meeting of yesterday at Lee Camp Hall, the largest gathering that has been seen at a regular assembling for some time.

The Daughters came together evidently with the hope that Mrs. Randolph might read and tell something of the contents of the letter.

But Mrs. Randolph remained immovable, and chapter members finally realized that for the time being at least, they were not to be made any wiser.

Mrs. Randolph condemned the policy which made the letter public at any time, as she thought it was likely to cause disturbance, and should for that reason have been kept private.

The Rev. Dr. J. William Jones, who was present at the meeting, stated that Mrs. Davis's letter was written while she was under the excitement produced by being told that her choice of a residence in the North was severely criticized, especially by the people of the State of Mississippi.

Reports From Delegates.

Reports were heard from the delegates to the Gulfport convention: Mrs. Randolph, Mrs. B. A. Blenner and Mrs. Edgar Taylor.

It was reported that, for lack of time at the convention, all the proposed amendments to the constitution, except that concerning salaried officers, were laid on the table. By a large majority it was decided that no order in an organization should hereafter receive any salary; but that the necessary expenses incurred in the performance of an officer's duties should be paid from the treasury, and that the president-general should be reimbursed for the amount spent in attending the annual convention.

Mrs. Rosenberg, of Texas, presented the United Daughters of the Confederacy with a beautiful silk battlefist in memory of Mrs. Davis. The flag was graciously received by Mrs. Cornelia French Stone, of Galveston, in behalf of the convention.

Reversed Decision.

Mrs. Henderson reported that, having had additional light on the subject, she reversed her decision with regard to the Daubney H. Maury Chapter, of Philadelphia, as set forth in a letter published in The Times-Dispatch the week after the Virginia Division convention at Winchester, last October.

The Daubney H. Maury Chapter was, therefore, declared to be in existence, and under the jurisdiction of the Virginia Division, from whom its charter was obtained, and the charter was given to Mrs. William R. McKenny, president of the Virginia Division.

Mrs. Randolph reported that she had received a letter from the William Waits Chapter, of Roanoke, stating that they had in hand, which they proposed to contribute at once toward the fund for the Jamestown building.

Mrs. Gill reported $9 in hand as receipts from the excursion to the Jamestown Exposition grounds on November 16th.

Mrs. Robert S. Christian received the thanks of the chapter for the successful management of the reception to the visit of the Daughters of the American Revolution, given on November 7th.

In regard to Davis Section. Complaint having been made at the meeting in regard to the bad condition of the Davis section in Hollywood, Miss M. P. Harris, the chairman of the committee having the section in charge, was brought to her by the president, Mr. John R. Hooper, the superintendent at Hollywood.

He told her that the designs, which were expensive ones, had not been received from the Daughters, and that she was awaiting an order for their removal. This she gave, and Mr. Hooper promised that the section should at once be put in new order.

The disclaimer made by Mrs. Lizzie George, Henderson, president-general of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, that she had given her official sanction and approval to the erection of a U. D. C. building at the Jamestown Exposition, and the fact that it caused discomfiture to the Virginia delegation at the Gulfport convention, was discussed at yesterday's meeting. Mrs. Henderson had written Mrs. Randolph about the plan for the building, and had commended it, but confessed that she acted individually and independently of the Daughters.

As the Virginia division will erect the exposition building and be the hostesses of the year 1907, the matter does not affect the general result in the least.

Judge E. W. Saunders HAS SAFE MAJORITY. Official Figures Will Give Him Two Hundred and Twenty-Two.

All the returns from the congressional election in the Fifth District are now in, and the official figures show a majority of 22 for Judge E. W. Saunders, of Franklin, the Democratic nominee, over W. Simmons, the Republican competitor.

Here are the figures in which there will be no changes:

Simmons, 220
Saunders, 242
Total, 462

The election in the Fifth District has been widely discussed in local political circles, but there has never been any question that Judge Saunders had a safe majority, and that it would finally settle around the two hundred mark.

her request to Governor Lowery for an expression of his opinion on the subject was met with the response that he "did not think that the body of Jefferson Davis was a fit subject for burial."

She also said that she could not afford to pay for guarding the tomb, which would have been necessary in an isolated location as the Standard cemetery, Richmond was persistent in its efforts to obtain the body, and a committee of eight prominent men were appointed to confer with her in this respect.

To North for Health. The reason for her residence in the North Mrs. Davis attributes to her ill health and her extreme poverty, which condition of mind and body led her to bear the extreme weather of the summer in the South and her poverty made her unable to stand the expense of a residence during the winter.

The ready sale for her own and her daughter's modest literary efforts in the North was another inducement. The best offer that she had ever received in connection with the productions of her pen was an offer of fifteen dollars for an article of three columns by a Mississippi newspaper. The absence of press notices on her work was dwelt upon, and the only notice she ever obtained was a notice in a paper in a Greenwood edition, saying that she was too old and too pitiful for such a work as she had attempted in the memoirs.

ANNOUNCE PLANS FOR BIG MEETING

Elaborate Preparations Being Made in Saratoga for Entertainment of Knights.

Great interest is being taken by the Knights Templar in Richmond over the triennial convocation of the grand lodge, which is to be held in Saratoga, N. Y., in July, 1907. It is expected that there will be a large delegation to Saratoga from the local lodges, as the convocation will be one of the largest and most representative held in years.

Elaborate preparations are being made in Saratoga. The arrangements for the convocation will be perfect in every respect. There was a meeting of the general committee at Saratoga recently, and much progress was made. Reports were received from chairmen of the subcommittees for the various departments of the work.

The grand lodge will also be held in Saratoga, and will have charge of the big Templar parade, which will be held on the day of the big parade. He expects that the parade will be one of the most magnificent ever seen in the city, and it is estimated that besides the Templars, there will have from 2000 to 3000 visitors.

Reception and Ball. The opening day of the convocation will be devoted to receptions to the various lodges. The evening a reception will be tendered to the grand master of the United States. On Tuesday evening there will be a reception and probably a ball. The ball will be held at the Hotel Waverly, and will be one of the most elaborate given in the city.

An exhibition drill will take place at the Hotel Waverly, and in the afternoon there will be a ball. The ball will be held at the Hotel Waverly, and will be one of the most elaborate given in the city.

Several hundred dollars have been appropriated to secure suitable trophies to be awarded to the successful drill. There will be four trophies, but what they will be has not yet been determined. Jewelers and others have been requested to submit designs, and selections will be made by the grand master. The trophies will be exceedingly valuable and will doubtless be unique in design.

Increase of Salaries. The general passenger agent of the Norfolk and Western Railroad, Mr. W. B. Revell, of Roanoke, has sent out a circular, announcing a ten per cent increase in the salaries of the employees of that department of the road, effective from the first of January, 1907.

NEWS GATHERED FROM SOUTHSIDE

To Have Circulating Libraries for Public Schools in Manchester.

MOSELEY TALKS TO BERKELEY

Grand Master of Odd-Fellows to Come Here—May Tear Down Fence.

Manchester Bureau, Times-Dispatch, No. 102 Hill Street.

Principal C. Harrington Moseley, of the Manchester public schools, has been in conference with Mr. Berkeley, of the State Library, in reference to the establishment of circulating libraries in the city. Mr. Berkeley is heartily in favor of the idea, and has readily consented to introduce the libraries. Each library will consist of fifty volumes of the most advanced books—books of fiction, poetry, biography, history, etc.

It is believed that this general course of reading will be but another improvement designed to place the Manchester High School on a par with any school in the State.

Miss Jennie Lewis, an accomplished young lady of the city, is arranging for an entertainment in Leader Hall on December 15th for the benefit of the poor. She will be assisted by Messrs. paid heavy taxes should remain open as long as they wish to. Others say that if Richmond closes her saloons at 12 o'clock the worst element of the citizens of that city will come to this city, and that they will be a dumping ground for the "crooks."

The Assembly will have a hard fight when the ordinance is considered. The Board of Aldermen meets the ordinance.

To Visit Odd-Fellows. Grand Master Roland E. Chase, of the Grand Order of Odd Fellows, will visit the city on Tuesday night, the 27th. He will be accompanied by Grand Representatives C. W. Morris, Thomas Kendler, Charles Pugh, G. W. Graves, S. D. Rogers, J. B. Smith, W. B. Green, W. R. Wagner and A. A. Levis.

TELEGRAPHERS ASK MORE MONEY

Committee Here to Confer With General Manager Doyle on Subject.

The telegraphers and station agents of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad, from Newport News to Cincinnati, are asking for a readjustment of the rates governing salaries and hours, and a committee of ten, representing them, are here to confer with General Manager C. E. Doyle on the subject.

It is understood that the committee has seen Mr. Doyle, and that further conferences will be had with him in reference to the matter. About 400 men are represented by the committee, and they are united in their request for more wages and shorter hours.

They now work twelve hours each day, including Sundays, and they are said to be asking for eight hours and an advance in salaries. The members of the committee are stopping at the Lexington Hotel, and will be here for several days.

It is understood that the men feel that to make this request, owing to the advanced price in the cost of living, including nearly all the articles they have to buy.

The telegraphers and station men of the Chesapeake and Ohio are members of the National Order of Railway Telegraphers, with the exception of about five per cent of them, and they are said to be acting in perfect harmony with regard to the matter.

MANY GAY SCENES AT ST. MARY'S BAZAAR

A Special Program for the School Children Proposed for the Afternoon.

A very large crowd was in attendance at St. Mary's Hall last night, and the bazaar was again made glad by the excellent spirit of the donors.

In order to have the school children attend the bazaar, a special program has been arranged for their entertainment this afternoon, beginning at 2 o'clock. It is needless to say that the little folk will turn out in large numbers, and a rare treat is in store for every child who attends.

Handsome vase donated by Messrs. Miller and Rhoads was won by Mr. Henry Holzner, he being the holder of the lucky coupon. A beautiful centre piece of fruit work was won by Miss Rosa Stewers. Several other prizes were decided last night, and the recipients were both pleased and surprised.

The content on the beautiful watch, rich sideboard and the handsome steel range, continue to arouse interest.

All the booths were well patronized last night, especially the "Country Store," "Fishing Pond" and "The Cream Booth," presided over charmingly by the ladies, who are untiring in their efforts to please the visitors.

FOOD CONDEMNED. Assistant Food Inspector Curtis yesterday condemned and had removed to the crematory five wagonloads of putrid pork, lard and turkeys found in the condemned Food district of the city. Four large wagonloads were hauled through the streets at once, and later the fifth load was sent. The rapid decomposition of this game is attributable, of course, to the unusually warm weather for this season, and the failure to keep them in cold storage. None of the birds and rabbits were fit for food, and their incineration was a public necessity.

Physicians Interested. How long he will live is a question that is interesting the medical profession of the city a great deal at the present moment. It is almost impossible for him to carry his age to a much greater extent, and yet there is nothing radically wrong with his system. Through his living, to which
